

THE STATE BOARD NOT TO BE BLAMED

A County Official Discusses Increased Valuations in East Liverpool.

BURDEN UNEVENLY PLACED

The City Paying a Heavy Penalty for the Remissness of Its Citizens. Present Council in Sympathy With the People.

In an interview with a News Review representative, County Commissioner J. H. French, who is a position to speak with full knowledge of the tax question in East Liverpool, said:

"The state board of equalization should not be blamed. There was never a valid argument for a lower aggregate valuation of the city's property offered. Perhaps there might have been reasons advanced for an increase of valuation in the cities of Salem and Wellsville, as their appraised values seem to be about 36 and 38 per cent respectively against 46 per cent in East Liverpool, while in the county outside of cities and villages the valuation was 66 per cent of the sales as returned.

"As only eight mills of the city's 27.50 mills are paid in common with the other taxable divisions of the county, the injustice, if any exists, applies to only a small fraction of the tax collected.

"Because the aggregate valuation, or the tax duplicate, has been materially increased in any city over a former one is no argument that it is now too high.

"No board of equalization would or should consider that.

"The fact is, the burden of taxation in East Liverpool is notoriously ill distributed. The overburdened ones seem to be the owners of small homes, and the remedy is in their own hands. If the council that they elect will appoint a board of equalization that will equalize, no one will need to complain of over taxation in East Liverpool.

"So long as a great part of the business blocks and manufacturing escape with 20 or 25 per cent valuation, the other and less valuable properties must, from necessity, pay more than their share.

"In all seriousness I think the city is paying a heavy penalty for remissness.

"At a primary election for recorder, treasurer, or some county office that in no way affects their financial interests, they can muster about 3,000 votes; while in nominating a land appraiser who establishes their tax basis for a decade, I think they only returned about 200 or 300.

"I am convinced that the present council is in sympathy with the overburdened class, and if they make judicious selections for the next and each succeeding annual board of equalization, the worst feature of the present injustice will vanish."

CROWDS ARE EXPECTED

At the Thanksgiving Day Foot Ball Game With Pittsburg Lyceum.

Extensive preparations are being made for the big Thanksgiving day foot ball game between the Y. M. C. A. and Cathedral Lyceum team, of Pittsburg.

The home team are now in good shape. They have been practicing diligently for the past ten days, as they expect the game Thursday to be one of the hardest of the season.

The visitors are one of the best amateur teams in western Pennsylvania. Out of 11 games played this year they have met with but one defeat and, of course, when they come here they expect to add another victory to their list.

The lineup of the Y. M. C. A.'s has not been definitely decided on as yet, but the very strongest that can be presented will start the game. Special arrangements will be made to handle the crowd, as it is expected that at least 5,000 people will witness the game.

LOVE FOUND A WAY

Bridgegroom Would Not Wait Until the Girl Was 18 Years Old.

Lisbon, November 26.—(Special)—Jacob Maurer and Elizabeth Weingart, Center township, have been licensed to marry.

Maurer came before the probate court yesterday, saying he wanted to marry.

It developed that his intended wife was but 17 years old and had neither parents nor guardian to give consent to the union.

Judge Boone suggested that they wait until spring when the girl would be of legal age. He also told Maurer that the expenses of having a guardian appointed were not light. The man refused to wait. Philip Bowman was thereupon appointed the young lady's guardian, gave his consent to the marriage and the license was issued. The expenses of this arrangement might be enough to cause some men to hesitate, but not Maurer.

SWITCHMEN CO OUT ON A STRIKE

A THOUSAND MEN QUIT ON PITTSBURG LINES.

Trouble Brewing for Some Time, Men's Demands Being Rejected.

Pittsburg, November 26.—(Special)—One thousand men on seven different lines of railroad struck this morning. The trouble has been brewing for some days and grows out of the railroads refusing the demands of the switchmen.

What the switchmen want is the Chicago scale. This reduces the time of a man's work from 10 to 12 hours. Pittsburg switchmen have lately worked as high as 15 hours a day. On a general average the Chicago scale provides for an increase in the pay of Pittsburg switchmen of 5 cents an hour.

SAVED ITS PARENTS

Cries of Little One Caused a Burning Building to Be Vacated.

Beaver Falls, Pa., November 26.—The worst fire that has visited this city in many months occurred yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, when the two large stores of G. W. Schaney, Seventh avenue and Fifteenth street, were completely burned out. Mr. Schaney is a saddler and had an immense stock of harness and saddler's supplies, as well as a great many expensive buggies, runabouts, surreys, wagons, etc.

Mr. Schaney, wife and two little children barely escaped from the burning buildings. They were rescued from a second-story front balcony by I. L. Parkinson, John Abblatt and George Hawkins, neighbors, who had been awakened by the screams of Mr. and Mrs. Schaney, who were running from one end of the balcony to the other in their night clothes.

The flames had already got into the front rooms and were leaping from the windows so that the Schaneys had to lie down to keep under them when the rescuers, who had left their homes as they had jumped from their beds, got a ladder to the balcony and carried the family down to safety.

Mrs. Schaney is in a critical state. Had it not been for the cries of their little two-year-old child the whole family would probably have been burned. The smoke awakened it and the cries aroused the parents. At that time the flames were shooting up the stairway, the only available exit, like a furnace. The firemen did excellent work and saved adjoining dwellings. The loss amounts to about $32,000, with $16,000 insurance.

SADDLE BLAME UPON ED. COOK

Democratic Leaders Don't Endorse the Scheme to Oust Leonard.

WERE NOT IN THE DEAL

W. E. Morrow And Henry Hetzel Say They Did All They Could to Rebuke the Chairman—Alleged Grounds of His Opposition.

According to the claims of several Democratic leaders in the city, Ed Cook, who served as chairman of the local committee during the recent campaign, is responsible for the attempt to overthrow Sheriff-elect Leonard. It is alleged by W. E. Morrow and Henry Hetzel that Cook is in sympathy with a few local "sore heads" who found fault with Leonard's choice in the appointment of a deputy.

Messrs. W. E. Morrow and Henry Hetzel made a detailed statement to a News Review reporter, in which they made it understood that they had nothing whatever to do with the deal. They explained that they did not know what Friday's meeting was called for until they went to J. C. Walsh's place and found Sheriff Noragone there, with Chairman Cook and some others.

"The moment I found that there was a scheme afoot to defeat Leonard," said Mr. Hetzel, "I immediately took measures to rebuke Cook. I soon made it plain that I would not act the part of a traitor and refused to listen to any arguments antagonistic to Leonard. Cook is chagrined simply because Leonard did not appoint the deputy that a certain ring of local Democrats wanted."

Mr. Morrow reiterated Mr. Hetzel's statements and denounced Cook's actions in most bitter terms. He also stated that he did not know of any intention to defeat Leonard until Friday's meeting when Cook came forward and explained to Sheriff Noragone that James Nagel had served as an officer in the first precinct of the Fourth ward without being qualified.

"I want it understood," said Mr. Morrow, "that I am a Democrat and not a traitor. I voted for Leonard and propose to stay by him. I know that his appointment of a Republican deputy did not please some of the local Democrats, but I for one do not propose to try to defeat him for that reason."

Other prominent Democrats have denounced Cook and say that if any attempt is made to do harm to Leonard they will fight for him to the bitter end.

Sheriff-elect Leonard has definitely announced that D. A. Davidson, of Wellsville, will be his office deputy, and Lawrence Allison, of East Liverpool, his outside deputy. Davidson is a Republican and Allison is a Democrat and a member of the Street Railway employees' association.

FINED FOR SELLING MINORS CIGARETTES

The new law for the suppression of the sale of cigarettes to children is to be enforced in this city. Many dealers here have ignored that law and as a result a clerk employed by Mrs. Dean, who runs a confectionery shop on Fourth street, was arrested and fined $25 and costs.

Thomas McKeever Wandered Into the City Hall While Drunk and Was Arrested.

DEAF MUTE WAS DRUGGED

Claimed He Was "Doped" By a Wellsville Restaurant Clerk—Frank Spivey Refuses to Go to the Infirmary. Police Notes.

Thomas McKeever is again a prisoner in the city jail because of his inordinate thirst for liquor. It has not been more than a week since Thomas paid a fine for intoxication, but yesterday afternoon he was taken in the toils again.

While in a hilarious condition Tommy walked into the city building and began to get boisterous. He was repeatedly warned to keep quiet, but he refused to do so and was finally placed behind the bars. After being locked up he continued his annoying conduct until Mayor Davidson threatened to gag him.

"The culprit was not quite so gay this morning and when he went before his honor he was trembling from head to foot, expecting he would get a trip to the workhouse. However, the mayor was lenient and let him off with the usual $1 and costs. Not having the necessary cash to square the account, he remains in jail.

The deaf and dumb man arrested yesterday afternoon was liberated last night on the payment of $1 and costs. He has been working for Harrison Rinehart and according to the story told by Mr. Rinehart to the mayor, the prisoner, whose proper name is Robert Tice, was drugged yesterday in Wellsville.

His actions while in the jail were unlike those of an intoxicated man, and he insisted that he had not been drinking liquor. It is claimed that he was given the drug by a clerk in a Wellsville restaurant.

Frank Spivey is yet "holding his own" in the homelike bastille. An effort was made this morning to induce him to go to the infirmary, but he wouldn't listen to the proposition. He wants to remain in jail until after Thanksgiving and then go to Pittsburg.

MAYOR UNDER FIRE

Proceedings to Oust Zanesville's Executive Are Contemplated.

Zanesville, November 26.—Affidavits have been drawn up looking to the impeachment of Mayor Holden. The charges are of an elaborate nature and that their prosecution, it is said, will not only jeopardize Mayor Holden's official position, but his liberty as well. It is also stated these charges, together with sworn statements, were to have been presented to the city council, but realizing that impeachment by means of council was an utter impossibility, the signers of the charges have decided to give them an airing before the probate court.

The saloon keepers seem to be backing the movement against the mayor and a municipal eruption is threatened. The arrest of three prominent saloon keepers last week on affidavits sworn out by the mayor, the arraignment of Mary Mahoney on the charge of keeping a disorderly house, together with the pronounced declaration of reform on the part of the mayor, have seemed to develop a storm that only the courts can settle. They claim that they were in no small way responsible for the election of the mayor, and state that no sooner had the administration taken charge than a tax of $2 weekly on each slot machine; $3 weekly on a crap game, and $5 weekly on a poker game was placed. It is alleged that about $400 weekly was collected by the administration from these devices and games.

The mayor says he does not fear impeachment for enforcing the law and denies the allegations that he got money from the saloon keepers and gamblers.

BARBERS' STRIKE BEGUN TODAY

Journeymen Rejected the Bosses' Proposition in Favor of Arbitration.

ALL QUIT THIS MORNING

Committee at Once Set to Work And the Strike is Likely to Be a Very Short-Lived Affair Indeed From Present Indications.

As a result of a meeting held last night by the journeymen barbers' union, a strike was declared and not a single member of the organization went to work this morning. The arbitration proposition submitted by the boss barbers yesterday was not satisfactory to the journeymen, who did not favor the idea of outsiders taking up their cause.

While several of the boss barbers have all along signified their willingness to sign the scale submitted by their workmen, there were others who refused to do so, and as a consequence all of the journeymen were called out. The latter were talking this morning of serving their customers by going from house to house.

In conversation with a reporter today one of the bosses who signed the scale spoke as if the journeymen's union had acted a little hasty in causing the men to strike who were in the employ of those in sympathy with them. However, he stated that if they believed they could further their cause by the action they had taken, he had no serious fault to find.

A committee of the journeymen's union called on the employing barbers this morning and up to noon had induced all but two of those seen to sign. One of these stated he would do so if the others would, but one man refused blankly to have anything to do with the scale. Another who had repeatedly refused to sign, did so this morning without the least protest.

Another meetings was held by the journeymen this afternoon, and it is thought that those who have been employed by the bosses who have signed the scale will be allowed to return to work. It is believed that all of the bosses will eventually sign the scale and that the strike will be of short duration.

THE STATE BOARD NOT TO BE BLAMED

A County Official Discusses Increased Valuations in East Liverpool.

BURDEN UNEVENLY PLACED

The City Paying a Heavy Penalty for the Remissness of Its Citizens. Present Council in Sympathy With the People.

In an interview with a News Review representative, County Commissioner J. H. French, who is a position to speak with full knowledge of the tax question in East Liverpool, said:

"The state board of equalization should not be blamed. There was never a valid argument for a lower aggregate valuation of the city's property offered. "As only eight mills of the city's 27.50 mills are paid in common with the other taxable divisions of the county, the injustice, if any exists, applies to only a small fraction of the tax collected.

"Because the aggregate valuation, or the tax duplicate, has been materially increased in any city over a former one is no argument that it is now too high.

"In all seriousness I think the city is paying a heavy penalty for remissness.

"At a primary election for recorder, treasurer, or some county office that in no way affects their financial interests, they can muster about 3,000 votes; while in nominating a land appraiser who establishes their tax basis for a decade, I think they only returned about 200 or 300.

Pittsburg, November 26.—(Special)—One thousand men on seven different lines of railroad struck this morning. The trouble has been brewing for some days and grows out of the railroads refusing the demands of the switchmen.

What the switchmen want is the Chicago scale. This reduces the time of a man's work from 10 to 12 hours. Pittsburg switchmen have lately worked as high as 15 hours a day. On a general average the Chicago scale provides for an increase in the pay of Pittsburg switchmen of 5 cents an hour.

The charges are of an elaborate nature and that their prosecution, it is said, will not only jeopardize Mayor Holden's official position, but his liberty as well. It is also stated these charges, together with sworn statements, were to have been presented to the city council, but realizing that impeachment by means of council was an utter impossibility, the signers of the charges have decided to give them an airing before the probate court.

The saloon keepers seem to be backing the movement against the mayor and a municipal eruption is threatened. The arrest of three prominent saloon keepers last week on affidavits sworn out by the mayor, the arraignment of Mary Mahoney on the charge of keeping a disorderly house, together with the pronounced declaration of reform on the part of the mayor, have seemed to develop a storm that only the courts can settle. They claim that they were in no small way responsible for the election of the mayor, and state that no sooner had the administration taken charge than a tax of $2 weekly on each slot machine; $3 weekly on a crap game, and $5 weekly on a poker game was placed. It is alleged that about $400 weekly was collected by the administration from these devices and games.

The mayor says he does not fear impeachment for enforcing the law and denies the allegations that he got money from the saloon keepers and gamblers.

BARBERS' STRIKE BEGUN TODAY

Journeymen Rejected the Bosses' Proposition in Favor of Arbitration.

ALL QUIT THIS MORNING

Committee at Once Set to Work And the Strike Is Likely to Be a Very Short-Lived Affair Indeed From Present Indications.

As a result of a meeting held last night by the journeymen barbers' union, a strike was declared and not a single member of the organization went to work this morning. The arbitration proposition submitted by the boss barbers yesterday was not satisfactory to the journeymen, who did not favor the idea of outsiders taking up their cause.

While several of the boss barbers have all along signified their willingness to sign the scale submitted by their workmen, there were others who refused to do so, and as a consequence all of the journeymen were called out. The latter were talking this morning of serving their customers by going from house to house.

In conversation with a reporter today one of the bosses who signed the scale spoke as if the journeymen's union had acted a little hasty in causing the men to strike who were in the employ of those in sympathy with them. However, he stated that if they believed they could further their cause by the action they had taken, he had no serious fault to find.

A committee of the journeymen's union called on the employing barbers this morning and up to noon had induced all but two of those seen to sign. One of these stated he would do so if the others would, but one man refused blankly to have anything to do with the scale. Another who had repeatedly refused to sign, did so this morning without the least protest.

Another meetings was held by the journeymen this afternoon, and it is thought that those who have been employed by the bosses who have signed the scale will be allowed to return to work. It is believed that all of the bosses will eventually sign the scale and that the strike will be of short duration.

AFTER WILD CATS

Western States Striving to Effect a Round-up of Bogus Insurance Concerns.

Western wild cats seem to be in for a general round-up, says the Insurance Post. The dearth of insurance facilities has encouraged their predatory prowling, and they have become such a general nuisance that the insurance officials of a number of western states have got after them all at once.

Illinois has an evil reputation as the chief breeding place of these malodorous felines. Futile efforts have been made in the past to drive them out, and the new administration of the insurance department promises to make this one of its chief endeavors. But it is the Illinois wild cats, and the nests of them with merely nominal headquarters elsewhere which are really operated from Chicago, that are bringing disgrace upon the state and its insurance interests, and should receive the chief attention of the officials. New methods of legal procedure are being looked up, and in the meantime the department is preparing a list, already of astonishing proportions, which it proposes to publish as a warning to the public against these unauthorized, unregulated and unreliable concerns.

Other states are moving in the same direction. Ohio has got after a fellow who was selling the policies of defunct wild cats, although they were no worse for being dead, and sent him to the penitentiary for using the mails to defraud. Kentucky is seeking to restrain the unadmitted companies as much as possible by suing their policy holders for the taxes that should have been paid on their premiums.

Much of this activity is futile, to be sure, but it is better than allowing so great an evil to go unmolested, and at least it will advertise the unworthiness of these concerns to the world.

FATAL POKER GAME

HARRY MCGEE KILLED IN AFFRAY AT BRIDGEWATER.

A Dispute Over Stakes Led to Shooting That End in Death.

Bridgewater, Pa., November 26.—Harry McGee, who came here recently from Pittsburgh with his young wife, is dead as the result of a poker game, which ended in a shooting affray at his home, in North Bridgewater.

McGee and his wife lived in the building formerly occupied as a depot by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, at North Bridgewater. About 2 o'clock a. m. McGee, with several companions, among whom was Leroy Evans, a negro, engaged in a game of poker at McGee's home. All was moving gracefully until a dispute arose over the stakes lying on the table. Both Evans and McGee claimed the money. Both men became very angry, and McGee in a fit of passion is said to have struck Evans across the face. Evans started for the door, saying: "I'll get even with you, McGee. Just wait until I come back."

No attention was paid to the threat, until about an hour later, when a rap was heard on the door. Frank Atkins opened the door and in walked Evans. McGee was warned not to enter the room by several friends, but he said he didn't think Evans meant any harm.

Evans jerked a revolver from his hip pocket and before any person could interfere, fired. McGee tottered, but regained his foothold, and, with a quick movement had his gun out, but the bullet went wild. Spectators jumped at both men, but not before Evans had sent two more bullets toward McGee, both of which were imbedded in the walls. Evans was hustled to the door and thrown out, the men then turning around to attend McGee.

Mrs. McGee was in the house at the time and was nearly frantic. An examination made of McGee's wound proved that the bullet had penetrated his right lung. At 8 o'clock p. m. McGee died. Evans has been placed under arrest.

At the inquest Evans was held for murder. It developed that Policeman Charles Fish, of Beaver, was in the house when McGee was shot. He confessed to frequenting the house, which, it is said, was a speakeasy.

There have been other weddings during the present social season in New York, but few that have attracted more attention than the marriage of Miss Fifi Potter to James Alexander Stillman, which was celebrated recently. Great interest is lent to the union by the history and charming personality of the bride and the family connections of the bridegroom as well as by the magnificent jewels presented to the happy young woman.

The former Miss Fifi Potter is the daughter of the actress, Mrs. James Brown Potter, formerly Miss Cora Urquhart. Her father is James Brown Potter, a nephew of Bishop Potter of New York. Mrs. Stillman's parents are divorced. Mrs. Potter lives in Chicago. Miss Fifi, whose real name was Anne Urquhart Potter, was brought up by her father. She possesses all of her mother's beauty, grace and charm. Her husband is the son of James Stillman, president of the National City bank of New York. The Stillmans are intimately connected with the Rockefellers, one of them, Miss Isabel Stillman, having been married a few months ago to Percy Rockefeller, nephew of John D. Rockefeller.

Among the splendid gifts received by the bride is a diamond coronet from her bridegroom. In the center of the coronet is a magnificent emerald. James Brown Potter gave his charming daughter an immensely valuable rope of pearls.

Banks Ready For Emergencies.

To meet sudden and unexpected demands upon banks a large sum is kept ready for use. The average large bank—say with total assets of $20,000,000—is prepared by four lines of defense to resist sudden attack. In the vault or safe about $500,000 in bank bills is always on hand, back of that is a cash reserve of perhaps $1,500,000 deposited in various business banks subject to instant call, back of that again is perhaps $8,000,000 in United States and other gilt edged securities immediately marketable, and the fourth and last line of defense and to be retired upon only in extreme distress is $6,000,000 or $8,000,000 in bonds and mortgages, on which the mortgagors will be hurriedly called to make a payment on account if the bank is pushed to extremities. With such resources disaster would seem impossible, though it has come to the best fortified institutions.—Bookkeeper.

HARD'S

"THE BIG STORE"

MOODY'S SUCCESSOR.

Rev. Mr. Morgan of England, Who Has Taken Up Some of His Work.

In the Rev. George Campbell Morgan, who has just arrived from England, a worthy successor to carry on some of the work of the dead evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, has been found. No one can quite fill Moody's place. It may well be doubted that any other man could support the vast burden of his various activities. It seems assured, however, that the Rev. Mr. Morgan will do all within his power to perpetuate Moody's good work, and his past record in English evangelism seems to promise success. He has the tremendous advantage of youth, being only 35 years old. Moody was 63 at the time of his death, and the burden of age had already told upon him.

REV. GEORGE CAMPBELL MORGAN

G. Campbell Morgan's father was a Baptist minister in the west of England, and his mother was the daughter of a deacon in the same church. He comes rightfully, therefore, by his predilection for preaching the gospel. Although he was educated with a view to adopting teaching as his life work, he early manifested a tendency toward the church. Mr. Morgan's first sermon was delivered when he was but 13 years old. He taught school, however, for some years, preaching in the evenings and on Sundays.

In 1889 Mr. Morgan accepted a call to the pastorate of a Congregational church at Stone, Staffordshire, England, and in 1893 he received a larger charge in Birmingham. His achievements as a preacher in the latter city brought him national fame, and in 1897 London claimed him as minister of the New Court Congregational church. He has been wonderfully successful and has been considered one of England's leading pulpits orators and evangelists.

In appearance Mr. Morgan is tall and extremely thin. His facial appearance is not prepossessing. A New York woman once remarked to one of Mr. Morgan's associates, "Your friend is the ugliest man I ever saw." Soon thereafter she heard him preach. Her comment then was, "Your friend is the most beautiful man I ever looked upon." The power, fervor and eloquence of Mr. Morgan's preaching may be judged from the incident.

Mr. Morgan has visited the United States a number of times. At Moody's invitation he preached at Northfield, Mass. It was in 1898 that Mr. Moody told his friends, "Mr. Morgan is altogether the most remarkable man I have ever had at Northfield." In speaking of his own theology some time ago Mr. Morgan said that he occupied a conservative and orthodox position with regard to the Bible.

Grain Moved In Streams.

Nowhere in North America will you come on a more thrilling night scene than the fresh water cargo tank unloading at Buffalo, says Rollin Lynde Hartt in The Atlantic. Here she lies beneath the towering grain elevator, which thrusts a long pumping pipe (called the "leg") down through her hatchway. Mount the gangplank, dodging the spinning ropes that make your head reel, stumble about on the dark deck, look down, down, down through the open hatch, and, zounds, what a sight! The hold glows with electricity. It is misty with blown dust. It roars with mechanical activity.

An enormous steel "shovel," big as the inside of a house and manipulated by countless flying ropes, charges back and forth through the whole length of the ship, pitching the yellow grain before it and heaping it up where the leg can get hold of it to whisk it into the bin that is somewhere up in the sky. Beneath, in the hold, an army of blue clad men with wooden "scoops" barely dodge the deadly shovel as they swing the grain into its path.

Man glares and pulls his coat about his neck.

Mildred was silent for a little while.

All Cheese Is Densely Populated.

Professor Adametz, who devoted considerable time to the study of the fragrant subject, said that the population of an ordinary cheese when a few weeks old is greater than the number of persons upon the earth. Professor Adametz made some interesting researches dealing with the minute organisms found in cheese. From a microscopic examination of a soft variety of Gruyere cheese he obtained the following statistics: In fifteen grains of cheese, when perfectly fresh, from 90,000 to 140,000 microbes were found, and when the cheese was seventy days old the population had increased to 800,000 in each fifteen grains. An examination of a denser cheese at twenty-five days old proved it to contain 1,200,000 in each gram (about fifteen grains) and when forty-five days old 2,000,000 in the same small particle.

Mrs. McGee was in the house at the time and was nearly frantic. An examination made of McGee's wound proved that the bullet had penetrated his right lung. At 8 o'clock p. m. McGee died. Evans has been placed under arrest.

At the inquest Evans was held for murder. It developed that Policeman Charles Fish, of Beaver, was in the house when McGee was shot. He confessed to frequenting the house, which, it is said, was a speakeasy.

A CHARMING BRIDE.

Young Mrs. Stillman, Wife of Rockefeller's Brother-in-law.

There have been other weddings during the present social season in New York, but few that have attracted more attention than the marriage of Miss Fifi Potter to James Alexander Stillman, which was celebrated recently. Great interest is lent to the union by the history and charming personality of the bride and the family connections of the bridegroom as well as by the magnificent jewels presented to the happy young woman.

The former Miss Fifi Potter is the daughter of the actress, Mrs. James Brown Potter, formerly Miss Cora Urquhart. Her father is James Brown Potter, a nephew of Bishop Potter of New York. Mrs. Stillman's parents are divorced. Mrs. Potter is in England. Mr. Potter lives in Chicago. Miss Fifi, whose real name was Anne Urquhart Potter, was brought up by her father. She possesses all of her mother's beauty, grace and charm. Her husband is the son of James Stillman, president of the National City bank of New York. The Stillmans are intimately connected with the Rockefellers, one of them, Miss Isabel Stillman, having been married a few months ago to Percy Rockefeller, nephew of John D. Rockefeller.

Among the splendid gifts received by the bride is a diamond coronet from her bridegroom. In the center of the coronet is a magnificent emerald. James Brown Potter gave his charming daughter an immensely valuable rope of pearls.

Banks Ready For Emergencies.

To meet sudden and unexpected demands upon banks a large sum is kept ready for use. The average large bank—say with total assets of $20,000,000—is prepared by four lines of defense to resist sudden attack. In the vault or safe about $500,000 in bank bills is always on hand, back of that is a cash reserve of perhaps $1,500,000 deposited in various business banks subject to instant call, back of that again is perhaps $8,000,000 in United States and other gilt edged securities immediately marketable, and the fourth and last line of defense and to be retired upon only in extreme distress is $6,000,000 or $8,000,000 in bonds and mortgages, on which the mortgagors will be hurriedly called to make a payment on account if the bank is pushed to extremities. With such resources disaster would seem impossible, though it has come to the best fortified institutions.—Bookkeeper.

"THE BIG STORE"

MOODY'S SUCCESSOR.

Rev. Mr. Morgan of England, Who Has Taken Up Some of His Work.

In the Rev. George Campbell Morgan, who has just arrived from England, a worthy successor to carry on some of the work of the dead evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, has been found. No one can quite fill Moody's place. It may well be doubted that any other man could support the vast burden of his various activities. It seems assured, however, that the Rev. Mr. Morgan will do all within his power to perpetuate Moody's good work, and his past record in English evangelism seems to promise success. He has the tremendous advantage of youth, being only 35 years old. Moody was 63 at the time of his death, and the burden of age had already told upon him.

G. Campbell Morgan's father was a Baptist minister in the west of England, and his mother was the daughter of a deacon in the same church. He comes rightfully, therefore, by his predilection for preaching the gospel. Although he was educated with a view to adopting teaching as his life work, he early manifested a tendency toward the church. Mr. Morgan's first sermon was delivered when he was but 13 years old. He taught school, however, for some years, preaching in the evenings and on Sundays.

In 1889 Mr. Morgan accepted a call to the pastorate of a Congregational church at Stone, Staffordshire, England, and in 1893 he received a larger charge in Birmingham. His achievements as a preacher in the latter city brought him national fame, and in 1897 London claimed him as minister of the New Court Congregational church. He has been wonderfully successful and has been considered one of England's leading pulpits orators and evangelists.

In appearance Mr. Morgan is tall and extremely thin. His facial appearance is not prepossessing. A New York woman once remarked to one of Mr. Morgan's associates, "Your friend is the ugliest man I ever saw." Soon thereafter she heard him preach. Her comment then was, "Your friend is the most beautiful man I ever looked upon." The power, fervor and eloquence of Mr. Morgan's preaching may be judged from the incident.

Mr. Morgan has visited the United States a number of times. At Moody's invitation he preached at Northfield, Mass. It was in 1898 that Mr. Moody told his friends, "Mr. Morgan is altogether the most remarkable man I have ever had at Northfield." In speaking of his own theology some time ago Mr. Morgan said that he occupied a conservative and orthodox position with regard to the Bible.

Grain Moved in Streams.

Nowhere in North America will you come on a more thrilling night scene than the fresh water cargo tank unloading at Buffalo, says Rollin Lynde Hartt in The Atlantic. Here she lies beneath the towering grain elevator, which thrusts a long pumping pipe (called the "leg") down through her hatchway. Mount the gangplank, dodging the spinning ropes that make your head reel, stumble about on the dark deck, look down, down, down through the open hatch, and, zounds, what a sight! The hold glows with electricity. It is misty with blown dust. It roars with mechanical activity.

An enormous steel "shovel," big as the inside of a house and manipulated by countless flying ropes, charges back and forth through the whole length of the ship, pitching the yellow grain before it and heaping it up where the leg can get hold of it to whisk it into the bin that is somewhere up in the sky. Beneath, in the hold, an army of blue clad men with wooden "scoops" barely dodge the deadly shovel as they swing the grain into its path.

Observations by Mildred.

Scene: Tramcar. Dramatis personae: Four-year-old girl, mother and several passengers.

Child (in high, shrill treble)—Mamma, did you get papa's birthday present?

"Yes, dearest."

"What did you get, mamma?"

"Cigars, lovey."

"The cheap ones that Aunt Millie told you about?"

Silence from mamma, but a heightened flush on her face that was not entirely the reflection from "dearest lovey's" red velvet hat.

"Mamma, that man over there has on a dreadfully dirty necktie. You told papa the other day that no gentleman would wear a soiled necktie."

Man glares and pulls his coat about his neck.

"Mildred, stop talking."

Mildred was silent for a little while.

All Cheese Is Densely Populated.

Professor Adametz, who devoted considerable time to the study of the fragrant subject, said that the population of an ordinary cheese when a few weeks old is greater than the number of persons upon the earth.

Professor Adametz made some interesting researches dealing with the minute organisms found in cheese. From a microscopic examination of a soft variety of Gruyere cheese he obtained the following statistics: In fifteen grains of cheese, when perfectly fresh, from 90,000 to 140,000 microbes were found, and when the cheese was seventy days old the population had increased to 800,000 in each fifteen grains. An examination of a denser cheese at twenty-five days old proved it to contain 1,200,000 in each gram (about fifteen grains) and when forty-five days old 2,000,000 in the same small particle.

FIGHTING DELAYED.

Columbia Commanders Put Off Operations, at Colon, Until Friday Evening.

FOREIGN COMMANDERS' REQUEST

A Washington Dispatch Ascertained, It Was Pretty Well Understood There, That There Would Be No Bombardment Without Sufficient Notice.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 26.—Transit across the isthmus has been stopped. Marines from the United States battleship Iowa, at Panama, have been landed to protect the railroad and are now on the line where the fighting is going on.

The commotion in the streets at this dispatch was sent is ended and calm now reigns. There is no jubilation, which is evidence that the Liberal army is not advancing toward Panama. It is reported to have been defeated at Matachín by General Alban's command. The latter is said to be pushing on Colon.

At a conference about 1 o'clock Monday morning on board the British cruiser Tribune, at which General Ignacio Feliaco, Senor de la Rosa, secretary of General Diaz, and the commanders of the foreign warships were present, the general agreed, at the request of the naval commanders, and on the ground of humanity, having in view the large foreign population of Colon, not to land troops here or open fire on the town before 6 o'clock Friday evening.

The Colombian gunboat General Pinzon is badly off for provisions, and the commanders of all the warships agreed to supply her with the necessary stores. The gunboat has not yet returned to Colon, and her whereabouts is unknown.

U. S. Marines on Guard.

Colon, Nov. 26.—An armed guard of marines from the United States battleship Iowa has re-established the transit across the isthmus and details from the Iowa's marines are now protecting each passenger train.

There has been fierce fighting at Empire station, on the railroad line between Panama and Colon, between the insurgents and the troops of the Colombian government, with very heavy losses on both sides.

Washington, Nov. 26.—It is pretty well understood here that there is to be no bombardment of Colon by either side. While Commander McCrea was given wide discretionary power and nothing was said to him about stopping the bombardment directly, nevertheless the state department established a precedent in these matters last year when it instructed Mr. Gudgeon to warn insurgents at Panama that they would not be allowed to bombard that port. If the government troops on the Pinzon should persist in their purpose, it is said that the commanders of the various warships at Colon would require that ample time be allowed for the withdrawal of the town of all foreigners, and the attacking force, to escape restraint, would be obliged to direct their bombardment with such rare precision as to destroy the insurgent defenses without harming the railroad property, and even without endangering the passage of trains, conditions probably not to be met.

The secretary of the navy telegraphed Captain Perry, of the Iowa, to assume full command of all the United States naval forces on both sides of the isthmus in order to insure harmonious operations. A dispatch from Gudgeon said:

"Our troops have arrived at Matachín, one-half of the way across the isthmus. No obstruction, and Colombian government seemed to be victorious over the insurgents."

Mr. Herran, charge d'affaires of the Colombian legation, yesterday received the following cablegram:

"Panama, Nov. 25. 'Colombian Minister, Washington. 'Rebel army completely defeated at Culebra and Empedrado. Governor marched last night upon Colon. Traffic interrupted yesterday, but will be re-established today.

"Arjona (Acting Governor)." The state department received confirmation of the reported defeat of the Liberal troops by the Colombian government troops. This came in a cablegram from Consul General Gudgeon, at Panama, yesterday afternoon, in which he said that the railroad is now unobstructed and that the government forces have been victorious over the revolutionists. He further reported that the blue jackets from the Machias have gone inland and now occupy a point midway of the isthmus.

Railway Transit Re-Established.

Later advices, while showing the situation on the isthmus to be still unsettled, contain the information that free transit by way of the railroad has been re-established. These advices came in a dispatch received by Secretary Long from Captain Perry, of the Iowa, who had made a trip across the isthmus from Panama to Colon, from which place he sent a telegram, an extract of which the secretary made public last night as follows:

"Captain Perry reports that free transit across the isthmus is restored and that he returns to Panama this afternoon. The captain will leave a guard on each passenger train for the present."

Mr. Herran, the charge of the Colombian legation, is very well satisfied with the tenor of the advices which had come to hand yesterday from Acting Governor Arjona, of Panama, who reported that the rebel army, having been defeated at Culebra and Empedrado, General Alban had now marched on Colon. His theory is that General Alban completely dislodged the rebel force, which had rendezvoused at Chorrera, from which place Mr. Herran believes they retreated to Culebra and Empedrado, where they again took a stand. Their defeat at these places, Mr. Herran says, leaves General Alban free to march to Colon. Mr. Herran thinks that General Alban now has at least 1,000 well-equipped and thoroughly armed men, besides which 600 men are on board the Colombian boat Pinzon, now at Colon. Mr. Herran asserts that the rebels have not at the outside more than 500 men.

MAKES ITSELF INDEPENDENT,

In Raw Materials—Union Steel Company Secures New Ore and Coking Coal Supplies.

Pittsburg, Nov. 26.—The Mellons, W. H. Donner and others controlling the Union Steel company have made themselves absolutely independent in raw materials, including ore and fuel and coking coal. These interests, which will ultimately have combined interests covered by a capital stock issue of about $20,000,000, will stand in Pittsburg with Jones & Laughlins, limited, as among the two greatest independent steel producing interests in the world.

The Denora Mining company has its headquarters in Duluth and is incorporated under the laws of Minnesota, being a subsidiary of the Union Steel company here. It has, by purchases and new ore finds, entrenched itself with a supply of ore which will make the concern independent in its supply for a century or more. Great tracts of fuel coal have been purchased in the Monongahela valley and a large body of high class coking coal in the new Klondike region of Fayette county has been produced. All these deals insure the Pittsburg company's supply of raw material.

Experts of the Denora Mining company have been drilling along the Mesaba range in Minnesota for the past six months. They have struck an extra high grade of ore property. The ore has been assayed to run over 63 per cent in iron and considerably under the Bessemer limit in phosphorus.

The find has been carefully guarded by those interested, who are unwilling to have it become public. Yet the strike is known to be a fact. President W. H. Donner, of the Union Steel company, yesterday decided to discuss the matter in any way.

The ore find opens rights which will hold about 20,000,000 tons of ore.

MINERS DEFIED JUDGE.

Erected Another Camp on Site of One Broken Up.

Earlington, Ky., Nov. 26.—True to their threat to maintain the camp at Nortonville, the union miners erected another tent today on the site of the camp which Judge Hall broke up only Sunday and hauled to Madisonville. At that time Leaders Rooney and Reed, who were at Nortonville, were not arrested, and Artie Oates, who had command of the camp, escaped after arrest. The re-establishment of the camp yesterday was a great surprise.

The union men were said to be relying on Judge-elect Hopkins to again permit the camps in Hopkins county after Jan. 1, although Judge Givens announced that he will stringently uphold the law.

Some of the local companies who have not already done so are taking steps to secure foreign charters and get under the protection of the United States courts.

MAY NEED EDUCATION.

Not Enough Schools to Cope With Illiteracy in Porto Rico.

Washington, Nov. 26.—M. G. Brumbaugh, commissioner of education for Porto Rico, in his annual report, says the 1,000 schools there, good as they are, cannot successfully cope with the tremendous illiteracy and the vast army of children in need of education in Porto Rico. There were 34,000 children in school this year, and the enrollment next year will be 50,000.

A large normal school has just been opened at Rio Piedras to meet part of the demand for teachers. An annual appropriation by congress of not less than $300,000 per annum for 10 years is urged. This, the report says, would equip the island with proper school facilities for 150,000 additional pupils, which, with the present enrollment, would make about 66 per cent of the school population of the island.

CLEVELAND RECOVERING FROM HIS COLD.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 26.—Former President Cleveland is rapidly recovering from his severe cold. This is the report of Dr. Wikoff, his physician. On account of being indisposed himself, Dr. Wikoff did not call to see Mr. Cleveland yesterday afternoon and the latter was so decidedly improved that it was not necessary to call in any other physician. Mrs. Cleveland also gave out a bulletin, which stated that Mr. Cleveland is still gaining strength and that he was resting very comfortably.

Police Captain on Trial.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Police Captain Diamond, of New York, was put on trial here on charge of venue from New York county, accused of neglect of duty in failing to suppress disorderly houses in his precinct. Assistant District Attorney Osborne, of New York, conducted the prosecution.

Four Rescued From Death.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—Luyties Brothers' wholesale and retail grocery burned, entailing a loss of $75,000; insurance partial. Four young women employees were rescued from death from the fourth story by firemen, who carried them out in an insensible condition. Mike Doran, foreman of one of the fire companies, was overcome by smoke and nearly suffocated.

MISS WACKERMAN WAS VIOLENT

Tried to Throttle Nurse—Placed in Another Asylum.

London, Nov. 26.—Miss Helen Vandenberg Wackerman, of New York, who was taken to St. Giles' infirmary, Nov. 13, as a wandering lunatic, is now in Claybury asylum, Woodford, Essex, which is controlled by the London county council. She was removed to the asylum after a desperate attempt to kill a nurse belonging to the infirmary, whom she almost succeeded in throttling.

Miss Wackerman is now in a padded cell, but Mrs. Wackerman, who has visited her daughter, said Monday that she seemed to be improved. Mrs. Wackerman has been advised that no steps to obtain the release of her daughter are feasible at present.

Thunder.

Winter thunder is considered throughout Europe to be of very ill omen, but April thunder is considered to be very beneficial. In Devonshire and other older counties of England there is a saying that "when it thunders in April you must clean up the barrels"—in readiness, that is, for a plentiful crop of apples.

The French consider April thunder to be indicative of a good yield from their vineyards and cornfields.

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of the disease is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. That remedy is used in this way by many thousands of mothers, and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon, and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

Being shown over a fitting shop at Birmingham not long ago, his attention was called to a riveting machine. "Yes," said his excellency, "it is riveting my eye at this moment." "These are pigs, your excellency," remarked his guide, speaking of the raw material from which tubes were being made. "And I see the pigs become sausages, as usual," replied the Celestial, pointing to a pile of tubes lying near. In the ammunition works Sir Chilheben was informed that any employee discovered with matches would be at once dismissed. "I suppose the same thing might happen if they were not discovered," said the ambassador.

A Witty Ambassador.

Sir Chilheben Lofengub, formerly China's ambassador to Great Britain and now transferred to St. Petersburg, is credited with being witty as well as intellectual. Being shown over a fitting shop at Birmingham not long ago, his attention was called to a riveting machine. "Yes," said his excellency, "it is riveting my eye at this moment." "These are pigs, your excellency," remarked his guide, speaking of the raw material from which tubes were being made. "And I see the pigs become sausages, as usual," replied the Celestial, pointing to a pile of tubes lying near. In the ammunition works Sir Chilheben was informed that any employee discovered with matches would be at once dismissed. "I suppose the same thing might happen if they were not discovered," said the ambassador.

Spiders Are Industrious.

No small insect ever escapes from the web of a spider, a fact which is not to be wondered at when it is considered that an ordinary sized spider may contain as many as 120,000 viscid globules. The spinner is constantly engaged in repairing injuries to the web inflicted by wind, stray leaves or captured insects. Once a day the whole web is subjected to rigorous examination, and any broken or loosened threads are adjusted.—Cornhill Magazine.

FIGHTING DELAYED.

transit across the isthmus is restored and that he returns to Panama this afternoon. The captain will leave a guard on each passenger train for the present.

Mr. Herran, the charge of the Colombian legation, is very well satisfied with the tenor of the advice which had come to hand yesterday from Acting Governor Arjona, of Panama, who reported that the rebel army, having been defeated at Culebra and Empress, General Albin had now marched on Colon. His theory is that General Albin completely dislodged the rebel force, which had rendezvoused at Chorrera from which place Mr. Herran believes they retreated to Culebra and Empress, where they again took a stand. Their defeat at these places, Mr. Herran says, leaves General Albin free to march to Colon. Mr. Herran thinks that General Albin now has at least 1,000 well-equipped and thoroughly armed men, besides which 600 men are on board the Colombian boat Pinzon, now at Colon. Mr. Herran asserts that the rebels have not at the outside more than 500 men.

MAKES ITSELF INDEPENDENT.

In Raw Materials—Union Steel Company Secures New Ore and Coking Coal Supplies.

Pittsburg, Nov. 26.—The Mellons, W. H. Donner and others controlling the Union Steel company have made themselves absolutely independent in raw materials, including ore and fuel and coking coal. These interests, which will ultimately have combined interests covered by a capital stock issue of about $20,000,000, will stand in Pittsburg with Jones & Laughlins, limited, as among the two greatest independent steel producing interests in the world.

The Donora Mining company has its headquarters in Duluth and is incorporated under the laws of Minnesota, being a subsidiary of the Union Steel company here. It has, by purchases and new ore finds, entrenched itself with a supply of ore which will make the concern independent in its supply for a century or more. Great tracts of fuel coal have been purchased in the Monongahela valley and a large body of high class coking coal in the new Klondike region of Fayette county has been produced. All these deals insure the Pittsburg company's supply of raw material.

Experts of the Donora Mining company have been drilling along the Mesaba range in Minnesota for the past six months. They have struck an extra high grade of ore property. The ore has been assayed to run over 63 per cent in iron and considerably under the Bessemer limit in phosphorus.

The find has been carefully guarded by those interested, who are unwilling to have it become public. Yet the strike is known to be a fact. President W. H. Donner, of the Union Steel company, yesterday decided to discuss the matter in any way.

The ore find opens rights which will hold about 20,000,000 tons of ore.

MINERS DEFIED JUDGE.

Erected Another Camp on Site of One Broken Up.

Earlington, Ky., Nov. 26.—True to their threat to maintain the camp at Nortonville, the union miners erected another tent today on the site of the camp which Judge Hall broke up only Sunday and hauled to Madisonville. At that time Leaders Rooney and Reed, who were at Nortonville, were not arrested, and Artie Oates, who had command of the camp, escaped after arrest. The re-establishment of the camp yesterday was a great surprise.

The union men were said to be relying on Judge-elect Givens to again permit the camps in Hopkins county after Jan. 1, although Judge Givens announced that he will stringently uphold the law.

Some of the local companies who have not already done so are taking steps to secure foreign charters and get under the protection of the United States courts.

MAY NEED EDUCATION.

Not Enough Schools to Cope With Illiteracy in Porto Rico.

Washington, Nov. 26.—M. G. Brumbaugh, commissioner of education for Porto Rico, in his annual report, says the 1,000 schools there, good as they are, cannot successfully cope with the tremendous illiteracy and the vast army of children in need of education in Porto Rico. There were 34,000 children in school this year, and the enrollment next year will be 50,000.

A large normal school has just been opened at Rio Piedras to meet part of the demand for teachers. An annual appropriation by congress of not less than $300,000 per annum for 10 years is urged. This, the report says, would equip the island with proper school facilities for 150,000 additional pupils, which, with the present enrollment, would make above 65 per cent of the school population of the island.

CLEVELAND RECOVERING

FROM HIS COLD.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 26.—Former President Cleveland is rapidly recovering from his severe cold. This is the report of Dr. Wikoff, his physician. On account of being indisposed himself, Dr. Wikoff did not call to see Mr. Cleveland yesterday afternoon and the latter was so decidedly improved that it was not necessary to call in any other physician. Mrs. Cleveland also gave out a bulletin, which stated that Mr. Cleveland is still gaining strength and that he was resting very comfortably.

BROWN WEILDS AXE.

Pittsburg Recorder Sworn In and Chops Off Official Heads.

LIST OF THE APPOINTEES.

Father-in-Law of Governor Stone's Son, Dr. J. Guy McCandless, Is Chosen For Director of Department of Public Works.

Pittsburg, Nov. 26.—J. O. Brown is now recorder of Pittsburg. He took the oath of office yesterday afternoon, at a joint meeting of councils. As soon as he was sworn in and had delivered his inaugural address the new recorder announced the following appointments:

Stone's Relative by Marriage.

J. Guy McCandless, director of the department of public works.

Dr. McCandless is a father-in-law of Governor Stone's son.

A. H. Leslie, director of the department of public safety.

George W. Wilson, director of the department of charities and corrections.

Clarence Burleigh, city solicitor.

Robert Ostermaier, collector of delinquent taxes.

Robert Pitcairn, George T. Oliver, R. S. Fraser, James M. Gaffey, Charles Donnelly, members of sinking fund commission.

Bernard McKenna, James V. Masters, David J. McGarey, Samuel F. Kerr, John H. Armstrong, police magistrates.

Harvey A. Lowry, George V. Gosser and Frank J. Klumpp, members of board of assessors.

A. J. Pitcairn, superintendent of the bureau of health.

The only new police magistrate is John H. Armstrong, of the Twentieth ward, who succeeds Magistrate E. C. Negley.

Harvey A. Lowry is a new man for the board of assessors. George W. Gosser and Frank J. Klumpp were "ripped" out of the board by the new detract Bigelow administration.

A. J. Pitcairn became the superintendent of the bureau of health after the removal of Crosby Gray by the late director of the department of public safety, "Andy" Fulton.

Appointees Were Sworn In.

The appointees of the recorder were sworn into office late in the afternoon. Recorder Brown sent letters to the office of the board of assessors removing Assessors William S. McCallin, R. P. Douglass and William Sprague. He did not announce in the council chamber the appointment of Assessor Thomas Mullen, but when asked about it afterward, he said:

"Mullen is in."

Assessor Henry W. Nichols resigned his place.

Aside from the sinking fund commissioners, this being the first Pittsburg has had, all of these men appointed yesterday were ripped out of office when Major A. M. Brown went into position, except McCandless, Lowry and Pitcairn.

John Battles, one of the jury commissioners, will likely be made superintendent of highways and sewers.

G. Wash Moore has been assured the appointment of the superintendent of city property.

County Detective Robert G. Robinson has been recommended by Flinn for superintendent of detectives.

Charles Ruhlandt has been recommended as superintendent of the dead registry bureau.

May Announce Them Today.

City Attorney Burleigh will announce his appointments today, reappointing practically, if not all, of his old force. No public safety appointments are likely to be announced this week. Director McCandless will name the men under him this week. Vacancies in the charities department will also be announced this week.

After the adjournment of councils M. G. Leslie announced that he was a candidate to succeed J. Guy McCandless as president of the common branch.

MISS WACKERMAN WAS VIOLENT

Tried to Throttle Nurse—Placed in Another Asylum.

London, Nov. 26.—Miss Helen Vanderbilt Wackerman, of New York, who was taken to St. Giles' infirmary, Nov. 13, as a wandering lunatic, is now in Claybury asylum, Woodford, Essex, which is controlled by the London county council. She was removed to the asylum after a desperate attempt to kill a nurse belonging to the infirmary, whom she almost succeeded in throttling.

Miss Wackerman is now in a padded cell, but Mrs. Wackerman, who has visited her daughter, said Monday that she seemed to be improved. Mrs. Wackerman has been advised that no steps to obtain the release of her daughter are feasible at present.

Four Rescued From Death.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—Luyties Brothers' wholesale and retail grocery burned, entailing a loss of $75,000; insurance partial. Four young women employees were rescued from death from the fourth story by firemen, who carried them out in an insensible condition. Mike Doran, foreman of one of the companies, was overcome by smoke and nearly suffocated.

Police Captain on Trial.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Police Captain Diamond, of New York, was put on trial here on charge of venue from New York county, accused of neglect of duty in failing to suppress disorderly houses in his precinct. Assistant District Attorney Osborne, of New York, conducted the prosecution.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Thunder.

Winter thunder is considered throughout Europe to be of very ill omen, but April thunder is considered to be very beneficial. In Devonshire and other elder counties of England there is a saying that "when it thunders in April you must clean up the barrels" in readiness, that is, for a plentiful crop of apples.

The French consider April thunder to be indicative of a good yield from their vineyards and cornfields.

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of the disease is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. That remedy is used in this way by many thousands of mothers, and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon, and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

The submarine boat Fulton, devised by Holland, has performed the feat of remaining under water 15 hours. This may not be remarkable for a boat, but when it is stated that several men were in the craft and came up with her, in excellent health and spirits, the story becomes decidedly interesting. A submarine boat capable of such a feat is an invention well calculated to play a startling part in the naval warfare of the future. Holland has been before the world but a short time as an inventor, but when the geniuses of the present period come to be counted up, it will be surprising if his name does not stand well up toward the head of the list.

The brewers and distillers will make a strong and organized effort at Washington this winter to have the tax on beer and whisky reduced. The distillers want the whisky tax cut from $1.10 to 70 cents and the brewers will endeavor to obtain a similar cut on beer taxes. The department is very much opposed to any reduction, and it is to be hoped that congress will take a similar stand. Cheap intoxicants are not a boon, and even if they were they would not be secured by the consumer through tax reduction. The only difference would be that the manufacturers and sellers would reap greater profits, while government revenues would be reduced.

Workmen in Chicago are receiving 5 to 10 cents an hour premium over and above the union scale of wages in several trades in the building industry because of the great demand for their services in keeping pace with the unprecedented building boom in that city and throughout the country.
In the mechanical branches all are employed and so many more are wanted that Chicago contractors are scouring the country for good men and offering special inducements in the way of wages and accommodations. Wage earners have unusual cause for thankfulness at this Thanksgiving period.

A recipe for getting the utmost en-your own household and one equally have but a scanty one but for your thoughtfulness. These directions have been tried often and have never been known to fail.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, who has returned to his Republican affiliations, says he never felt at home among the Democrats. Judging from the evidences of unrest, there are lots more like him, even among those who have always called themselves Democrats.

The Cripple Creek gold output for 1901, it is estimated, will exceed $27, 000,000. Add the product of Alaska and other mining districts and it will be apparent that Uncle Sam can still hold his own when it comes to piling up glittering treasure.

"Made in Germany" used to be a asserted the very best tools made in Europe are made in Germany, but they are made by American machin-

Secretary Hitchcock proposes to introduce industrial training for both

Pardons should never be granted save

Almost everybody has ceased to be

POTTERY NEWS

A large number of Trenton potters attended the Central Baptist church in their home city Sunday and were addressed by Rev. Alfred W. Wishard who spoke on the theme, "The Potter and the Clay." He said in part:

"The modern potter is linked by an unbroken chain of artisans with the primitive races of mankind. Who first molded and baked the common clay into products of utility and beauty is not known. Certain it is that long before the patriarchal age of the Old Testament there were potters in Egypt, and Assyria and China. The invention of pottery is assigned by the Chinese to Hwang-te, who lived about 2700 years before Christ.

"It is not strange that pottery is one of the oldest arts. Clay is the common substance upon which man lives and toils. Even the untutored savage mind could not avoid being impressed by the fact that wet clay was easily molded into any desired shape, and that it became hard and firm under the warm rays of the sun. Naturally he made his idols, his household utensils and various ornaments of clay."

In conclusion, the speaker reviewed the progress of pottery, which, he said, could be found even among the savages in the construction of their idols. He drew four lessons from the potters' art, which he appropriated to the teachings of Christ, as a means to mold lives in fitting them for the life to come.

The Trent Tile company, of Trenton, will on December 6 finish the 7,000 feet of mosaic and pebble ceramic order for the Newcastle postoffice and telegraph office in Newcastle, New South Wales, Australia. The company is about ready to commence work on an order for the flooring in mosaic of the St. James Cathedral in Sydney, New South Wales, Australia.
Twenty thousand square feet comprises this mosaic order, some of the pieces being not more than one-eighth inch square.

Wyllie Horne returned to Salem yesterday afternoon after a visit in the city. Mr. Horne has been employed as a jiggerman at the Salem Pottery company, but has resigned his position.
He expects to embark in the saloon business at Salem.

Mr. John Kane, of Dixonville, street commissioner in the East End, has resigned his position to accept that of private watchman in the Edwin Knowles pottery in Chester.

Henry Ashbaugh, of East Palestine, was in the city over Sunday. Mr. Ash-baugh stated that the potteries at that city were experiencing a good fall trade, both running in full.

ing ships. "I remember once," he said, "while we were cruising round

the next port, I'm blowed if we didn't see the same locusts and every one ops of America, at their annual meeting, adopted the following resolutions:

"That we heartily commend and will practically encourage work for clerk walked in front of him down the length of the market announcing in loud tones: "Make way, gentlemen, for the president of the United States. The president of the United States! Fellow citizens, make room!"

The chief had stepped into one of the stalls to look at some game, when the clerk turned round suddenly and finding himself alone, suddenly changed his tone, and exclaimed: "My gracious!
Where has that damned idiot got to?"

The submarine boat Fulton, devised by Holland, has performed the feat of remaining under water 15 hours. This may not be remarkable for a boat, but when it is stated that several men were in the craft and came up with her, in excellent health and spirits, the story becomes decidedly interesting. A submarine boat capable of such a feat is an invention well calculated to play a startling part in the naval warfare of the future. Holland has been before the world but a short time as an inventor, but when the geniuses of the present period come to be counted up, it will be surprising if his name does not stand well up toward the head of the list.

The brewers and distillers will make a strong and organized effort at Washington this winter to have the tax on beer and whisky reduced. The distillers want the whisky tax cut from $1.10 to 70 cents and the brewers will endeavor to obtain a similar cut on beer taxes. The department is very much opposed to any reduction, and it is to be hoped that congress will take a similar stand. Cheap intoxicants are not a boon, and even if they were they would not be secured by the consumer through tax reduction. The only difference would be that the manufacturers and sellers would reap greater profits, while government revenues would be reduced.

Workmen in Chicago are receiving 5 to 10 cents an hour premium over and above the union scale of wages in several trades in the building industry because of the great demand for their services in keeping pace with the unprecedented building boom in that city and throughout the country. In the mechanical branches all are employed and so many more are wanted that Chicago contractors are scouring the country for good men and offering special inducements in the way of wages and accommodations. Wage earners have unusual cause for thankfulness at this Thanksgiving period.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, who has returned to his Republican affiliations, says he never felt at home among the Democrats. Judging from the evidences of unrest, there are lots more like him, even among those who have always called themselves Democrats.

The Cripple Creek gold output for 1901, it is estimated, will exceed $27,000,000. Add the product of Alaska and other mining districts and it will be apparent that Uncle Sam can still hold his own when it comes to piling up glittering treasure.

PRESENCE OF MIND

Enabled a Man in Great Peril to Save His Life.

William Hamilton, familiarly known as "Billy," who was injured in the Toronto yards Friday night, is at his home on Front street suffering intense pain at intervals, but doing well. He said that he had just made a coupling and was walking backward to throw a switch when his foot lodged in the frog of the track.

The train was coming toward him at a moderate rate of speed. He could not free his foot. He saw death staring him in the face, and as a last resort, reached for his knife and in one rip parted the shoe from the top to the toes. He then made a heroic plunge and freed his foot. This resulted in the lacerating of his limb, but saved his life.

FEASTED ON GRAPES

As Result of a Wager Cayle Weldon Has Suffered Much.

Cayle Weldon is slowly recovering from a severe attack of appendicitis. During the past two weeks he has suffered excruciating pain. It is reported that while in Schaefer's restaurant some one bet that he could not eat a three-quarter pack basket of grapes. To win the bet Weldon ate the grapes, but he has suffered ever since.

ceive the dignity of a production, scenery, costumes and properties being historically correct. The company numbers nearly one hundred people, and has, of course, its own orchestra, so that a rare treat is in store for our music lovers on Thursday afternoon and evening, when this company appears here in "Martha" and "Faust." The company is the largest and strongest lyric organization in the United States since the days of Emma Abbott.

"Caught in the Web," the new celebrated play which will be presented at the Grand opera house tomorrow night, is novel in construction and original in theme. It treats of detective life in a natural manner. There is no straining for effect, but constant action from the rising of the curtain on the first act to the end of the play. Surprises follow each other in rapid succession, but they are all natural and logical. The play is strictly dramatic and the humor is of a high order. No play of recent years has been sent on the road with such a heavy scenic equipment. Not a piece of the house scenery is used by the company, and in addition it carries the furniture, carpets, draperies, electric lights and other paraphernalia used in the production.

"Merry" Katie Emmett will play her big spectacular production, "Waifs of New York," here on Friday night. The company carries a carload of special scenery, and the fire scene with Miss Emmett's escape, the bridge scene, with the moving trains, is pronounced by all who have seen it, to be the most realistic piece of mechanism ever produced upon the American stage. Miss Emmett's continued successes have won for her a high place in the esteem of the American theater going public. She is one of the few ladies who have been honored with membership in the B. P. O. Elks and is also a member of 32 unions.

"A Cavalier of France," presented at the Grand opera house last night, is one of those pretty romantic plays. E. R. Spencer as Rene de Froisac in the title role gave the East Liverpool people a rare bit of acting, having all the requisites needed for so strong a role.

Isabel Pengra Spencer, as the sweetheart of the cavalier, was fine, especially in the emotional scenes. The entire cast was very evenly balanced and well received.

There is assurance of genuine fun in "Don't Tell My Wife." This is the new musical farce in which Arthur Deming is this season being starred by Harry Yeager. The piece is by Howard Hall, the author of so many funny pieces. Deming's inclusion in the company would of itself be sufficient guarantee of merriment. Deming is said to be fortunate in a role that exacts the exercise of all his imitable powers. It is billed to appear here tonight.

FLED TO A BALCONY.

Perilous Position of a Woman and Children During a Fire.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Nov. 26.—The big harness and carriage repository of George W. Schaney, located at Nos. 1506 and 1508 Seventh avenue, this place, was totally destroyed by fire, with almost all its contents. Mr. Schaney and family, consisting of his wife, 12-year-old daughter and baby, were forced to take refuge on a small balcony overhanging the sidewalk, where they stayed, clad only in their night clothes, until citizens found a ladder and rescued them unhurt from their perilous situation. Fifteen vehicles were saved. Mr. Schaney estimates his loss in buildings and goods at $30,000, on which he has $17,000 insurance on goods and $4,000 on the building.

Use Page's Climax Salve for burns and scalds. It draws out the pain in less than five minutes and prevents a blister. The cook's best friend.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH.

Four Others Were Injured—Sad Accident to a Family at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Nov. 26.—Four daughters of John G. Miller, of Knoxville, were burned to death yesterday. The fire was attended with many sad features. The eldest girl, Rosie, died on the way to the hospital. The night clothes worn by Amanda, apparently caught some way, held her to the bed until she was cremated. Amelia walked about the house holding her little sister by the hand trying to escape, until she became unconscious. Eight-year-old Sylvia, finding that she could not get out of the house, crawled under the bed trying to escape the terror of the flames. The sick mother, who was rescued by Mr. Miller, does not know that almost her whole family is dead. The following are the casualties:

The Dead.

Amanda Miller, aged 16.
Amelia Miller, aged 18.
Sylvia Miller, aged 8.
Rosie Miller, aged 23.

The Injured.

John G. Miller.
Mrs. John G. Miller.
Jenny Miller, aged 11.
Lily Miller, aged 13.

The Miller family reside at 116 Charles street, Knoxville, which is a two-story frame house. The father is employed at the A. M. Byers mill, on South Sixth street, and goes early to work. About 4 o'clock yesterday morning Rosie, as usual, got up early to prepare his breakfast, went down to the kitchen, where the fire originated.

There are various accounts of its origin, and it is possible that the correct one will never be known. According to one, the girl lighted a lamp on the table, which exploded and caused the fatal fire. According to a second report, she used some gasoline in the stove, which exploded and caused the fatalities. According to a third account, Rosie placed a quantity of straw in the stove to accelerate the lighting process and by some accident the stove was overturned and the fire followed.

A DAY OF THANKS IN THE OLD HOME

BY H. E. REALE.

Copyright, 1901, by R. A. Brown.

OLDER than the Fourth of July by nearly a century and a half and in some respects nearer and dearer to the American heart, Thanksgiving day occupies a place all its own. The harvest is finished, the mows are full of hay and there is a conical stack or two in the meadow near the old barn.

There are turnips and potatoes and luscious bleached celery and big fat onions and gaudy squashes in the cellar. There's mince meat galore in the crocks and rubicund pumpkins on the barn floor ripe and ready for the pumpkin pie that mother used to make and, thank heaven, is still making.

The cornucopia is chock full of red and yellow ears, the boy has come home from the city or town or from the faraway Philippines, the married daughter and her husband and the baby are visiting the old folks and the old farm, and pretty sister Sue and her beau are wearing out the kitchen sofa in the front parlor, which is wide open, light and in use for the first time in months.

There's a roaring, sparkling, snapping flickery fire in the old fireplace, and every man, woman, child, cat and dog around the dear old home has a monstrous appetite for the turkey, and the mince pie, and the pumpkin pie, and the cranberry sauce, and all the other good things that mother has prepared.

For long round the table the dear soul has hovered; Each phase of the feast has been lovingly planned. With food fit for princes the table is covered, For mother outdoes any chef in the land.

Then gather about the table and let father say grace, and say it quickly, for the turkey is crisp and brown and juicy and must not be kept waiting a moment longer than is necessary.

Thanksgiving day is the greatest of all home days, and there's no place like home—like the old home on the village street, with the garden and the little barn behind it, or like the old home on the farm, where the trout stream still wanders through the meadows even if the trout have long been but a memory of the past and even if its song today is but a frozen song.

Where the wood lot, now sadly depleted, perhaps, recalls memories of a sturdy, red checked boy, who swung an ax all day, slept all night without even turning over and ate three square meals that made the hired man turn green with envy.

Where the doves coo in the dovecot on the wagon shed and the swallows (now far away, alas!) play hide and seek and tag and follow my leader around the old barn and under its eaves.

Where the red squirrels—lazy, imprudent rascals—steal corn from the crib each sunny winter's day and sputter shrill invective and squirrel billingsgate at any one who tries to drive them from their loot.

Where the clean, gleaming milk pans and milk pails sun themselves on the bench near the kitchen door, and where the same patient, cud chewing cows (or are they the doubles, counterparts, bovine facsimiles of other patient cows long since gone to their reward?) are condemned to the stocks night and morning in the barn and, despite this treatment, give milk that is never watered and that is good for an inch of cream when the sun gets up.

Where the popcorn and the cider and the maple sugar taste better than they taste anywhere else on earth, and where father and mother, with wrinkled faces, white hair and work worn hands, with gleaming spectacles and glistening eyes, perhaps, have the warmest sort of welcome for the returning prodigal.

What though bedtime be 8 p. m. and getting up time 5 o'clock in the morning, the day of thanks is here and we're home again, home again!

If there were an aged minstrel on the old place like the Scottish minstrels who lived again and twanged the tenuous harp at the beck of Sir Walter Scott; if we could but summon some bent and hoary farm hand who had long outlived his use.

Neuralgia.

The Prayer of a Nerve for More Blood.

Neuralgia may attack any part of the body but most frequently occurs where the nerves are most abundant. In the head. In the face. Sometimes the heart nerves seem to twist. Winging rheumatic pains of the extremities.

Sharp and intense at times. In the intervals dull and heavy. Neuralgia is the result of impoverished blood caused by impairment of the nerves—a lack of nerve force.

It is a disease of the nerve centers, and the pains accompanying it are a prayer for better nourishment. They are the danger signals which warn you against a total collapse of the nervous system.

Liniments and all external applications can only give temporary relief. Permanent cure cannot possibly come until the nerve centers are thoroughly revitalized and reinvigorated by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The beneficial effects of this great nerve restorative are felt thrilling through the nerve fibres as week by week and month by month the nerve force of the body is restored. Women afflicted with diseases peculiar to their sex are frequently great sufferers from neuralgia. Dr. Chase's Nerve Pills positively cures both these disorders by filling the nervous system with new vigor and life. 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. The genuine has portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on each package.

fulness as wielder of scythe and hoe and instructor of the half weaned calf that must be taught to draw his future lacteal sustenance from a pail—if there were such a bard who was merely retained because he could extract melody from a lyre, lute, harp or plain, everyday guitar, banjo or fiddle and compose reminiscent poetry in unlimited quantities at a moment's notice, he should at once be led in to sing the praises of the farm, the home, the harvest and the day of thanks.

Not that roses are the sole output of a farm. There are weeds, weeds, weeds that seem to grow with the speed of Jonah's gourd and must be discouraged by the man with the hoe. There is hard work a-plenty from hard morn to dewy eve. There are endless fields to be plowed and harrowed and planted and mowed, and there are the same old cows—such a number of them—that must be driven in from pasture in the meadows or sought for in their hiding places in the woods and milked morning and night, night and morning, over and over again. There is the winter's wood that must be cut and corded and left to dry for other winters yet to come. There are horses to be fed and groomed and doctored and pigs to be catered to and butchered. There are orchards to be pruned and grafted and endless fences to be built or repaired. There is apparently something to be done every minute, some bug or worm or beast or bird to be fought with, or the coveted crops will come to naught.

And yet God bless the farm for its pure food, for its pure, bracing, health-giving air; for its nights of sound, dreamless, invigorating sleep; for its springs of cool, clear water; for its brooks that "go on forever" and its trees that shade the brow and rest the eye, for its simple, primitive, natural, common sense life and its religious, moral atmosphere; for its bounteous crops and for the bone and brawn and endurance it gives those who toil in its fields!

So lead in the aged hired man, the bard of Ceres—after the dinner has been disposed of, of course, for music always sounds better when it isn't defying the play of knife and fork. Let him tune up his lyre, and to the accompaniment of its sweet strains awaken the happy memories of life on the farm—memories that are dear to a boy even if he has deserted the farm at an early age for the glare and glitter of some great city, memories that call him back to the old home when Thanksgiving day has come again. There's a time for play as well as a time for work on the farm. There are roses as well as weeds, and the bard of Ceres will strike a responsive chord on the heartstrings of the farm boy when he sings of the old swimming hole in a bend of the brook where a deep dive meant a bump on the brow that would make a phenological professor or enthusiast, and where an ardent swimmer could swim at least four feet before he struck the grass fringed bank. In fancy I can hear the bard's lyre and brief snatches of his song:

I sing of the brook, where as boys we went swimming, The brook in the mead where we paddled and dove, Where after a rainstorm the green banks were brimming, Where Sol threw off heat like the top of a stove, I sing of the brook and its waters so cooling, To hot, dusty limbs and to lips that were dry; I sing of sweet hours of skylarking and fooling, Of well knotted shirts, oh, so hard to untie!

There is a change in the tune and the subject, and the ever cool, ever faithful spring of boyhood days now inspires the bard:

I sing of the spring and its barrel deep surken, The spot which we sought on a hot summer's day; I sing of the spring and the nectar we've drunken In spare moments stolen from work and from play, How clear and how cold was the water sparkling, The water that came from the heart of the hill, Ah, bending, we drank of this fountain thirst quelling, As lipping its bosom we drank to our fill!

Was there ever such a healthful, refreshing, invigorating drink as that? May the water sprite who dwells in the "heart of the hill" never get tired or lazy or take a day off for ages to come! The fetters of winter are making a futile effort to close about you today, O spring, and the thirdest of November is not the thirstiest of July, but your charm is so potent that months hence we shall forget the day of thanks is not a midsummer day and shall come back to the old farm again to quaff your waters. And though July may not be November, that day will be a day of thanks indeed.

Once more the old bard sings, and as we listen we do not even glance through the window across the snow covered road, for in fancy we can see the towering maples and smell the smoke of the sugar bush fire:

I sing of the maples that stand on the knee deep in the drifts that the winter winds raise; I sing of the maples that rise from the hillside And send forth their sweetness on sun-shiny days, The bright, gleaming buckets with sap are o'erflowing, The saccharine sap that such fine sugar makes; The fires 'neath the pans in the bush are all glowing; There's sirup a-plenty for new buck-wheat cakes!

What fun there was in the old sugar bush as we plowed through the snow after the sap buckets, at times snoring a cotton tailed rabbit from her loafing place in the brush, or as we dropped the new sugar in the snow to cool it for the feast so eagerly anticipated! How sweet the sap was as we would tip a bucket now and then and drink, drink, drink, and how we enjoyed the stories the hired man and father would tell when the dark came and we hugged the fire, looking apprehensively over our shoulders, about pirates and ghosts and murderers and heroes of the Revolution who always whipped or outwitted the British and never got whipped or caught themselves! A place well worth remembering and singing about is the old sugar bush.

And yet again the bard sings of the haymows filled with soft, sweet scented hay, in which we play hide and seek and tumble to our hearts' delight; of the great swamp near by in which we hunted the great blue heron, of the willows where the woodcock hid and of the wide stretches of forest where the partridge drummed upon a log and the gray squirrels scampered among the leaves or darted up the trunks of great trees—the trees carefully and annoyingly interposed between them and the boy with the gun.

And as he sings of these and other happy scenes of boyhood on the farm we know why it is that the old place is such a magnet to those who have left it, why with potent and tender but invisible fingers it draws us back when the harvest is over, when the fields are under their blankets of snow, when that greatest of all home days, Thanksgiving, is with us once more.

BILL'S THANKSGIVING.

He Thought He Had a Great Deal to Be Thankful For.

"Waal, Bill, what hev ye got to be thankful fur today?" asked Grizzly George as he ran across Wild Bill in the Prairie Dog saloon on Thanksgiving day.

"What hev I got to be thankful fur?" echoed Bill, looking at the other in astonishment. "Why, fur lots of things in course, an' I should think ye orter know it too. Hain't the sheriff at this mornin' got a warrant fur me in his pocket, but's afeard to arrest me?"

"Yaas, I reckon that's so, Bill."

"Waal, then, hain't I orter be thankful to hev sich a reputashun as a bad man? Then look at my record, will yer? I've held up forty-two stages, bin sent to jail fifty-six times, escaped twenty-one times, shot four sheriffs, licked scores of galoots an' robbed more stores in the state than ye kin count. Hain't it sunthin' to be thankful fur to be alive today to enjoy sich a grand reputashun an' own sich a bewtiful record?"

"Yaas, that's so, Bill—that's so."

"Then take a look at my fam'ly, will yer? That's my son Joe, who's sarvin' five years fur hoss stealin'. Hain't it sunthin' to be thankful fur to be the father of sich a promisin' boy?"

"It sartainly ar", Bill," agreed Grizzly George.

"Ye bet it ar!" went on Wild Bill enthusiastically. "Then that's my two other boys, Lem an' Hank. Lem takes arter me an' ar a nacheral born robber, while Hank takes arter his ma an' ar a nacheral born liar. Why, he kin steal a hawg right in front of yer nose an' then lie about it till ye believe some one else did it. Wouldn't ye feel yer hain't sunthin' to be thankful fur yer fam'ly wuz as good as mine?"

"Yaas, Bill, I would an' no mistake."

"Why, in course ye would—in course! One of my nearest relatives ar' goin' to be hanged to-morrow, an' my darter Mary got engaged to Texas Jim, the hoss thief, last night. Hev I got anythin' to be thankful fur? Hev I?" And Wild Bill swaggered out of the saloon, with a proud look and a whistle on his lips.—New York World.

Blood Wine—New French Discovery Catches on Quickly.

Druggists Kept Busy Answering Questions. Our Sick People Hopeful of Lasting Results.

We are pleased to report in this issue that "Blood Wine," the new medicine which we have recently induced the manufacturers to place on sale here, has jumped into instant favor and a large number of our citizens have availed themselves of the opportunity to test it daily and a ready feeling the effects of its health-giving properties.

The market is today flooded with proprietary articles of all kinds. Some are good, some are bad, some harmless, while others possess little or no medicinal property. The sale of "Blood Wine" has been developed purely on its merits, for the manufacturers have always held aloof from advertising, believing that to thus present it might prejudice the minds of some, as there are people who think that any advertised medicine is a "quack nostrum."

"Blood Wine" is a scientific preparation; in fact, one of the most potent of recent discoveries in materia medica. If you should summon a physician, receive his advice, accept his prescription, have it filled and conduct yourself according to his instruction, you must be at an expense of from say $1.50 to $7.00 or even $10.00, according to the physician and the druggist who compounded your prescription.

Now for fifty cents you can get a bottle of this excellent French remedy which will do as much for you as your physician and druggist combined, providing of course that "Blood Wine" will suit your case. It is not a cure-all; it is not a medicine that will cure disease after death has already tightened its grasp upon the unfortunate victim; it is senseless for anyone to make such a claim of any medicine, and no honest proprietor speaking to the intelligent masses will do it. "Blood Wine" will not disappoint you. It has worked wonders in thousands and hundreds of thousands of cases in the cities. It will cure in a great many instances where other remedies and doctors fail. It will prevent coughs, colds, grippe, pneumonia, consumption, Bright's disease, rheumatism, indigestion, constipation, nervous disorders and infections of the blood, and it will bring about a permanent cure of any of these diseases excepting when consumption or Bright's disease is in the most advanced stage. If your lungs are beginning to be affected, if you have a poor appetite, are sleepless nights, are losing flesh, or notice a slight cough, are nervous and dizzy, "Blood Wine" will cure you.

Go to the drug store and inquire about this celebrated preparation; see if it suits your case, sample it, read the literature and make a thorough investigation. If satisfied invest fifty cents for a full bottle and notice its wonderful action. "Blood Wine" contains no wine or opiates. You will not be humbugged, you will not be fooled, you'll get your money's worth many times over.

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge at Will Reed's and Hodson's drug stores.

HOW TO COOK THE TURKEY.

Some Practical Advice Given by a New York Chef.

There is a chef in one of the large hotels of New York who is famous for his roast turkey. Turkey under his hands comes out not only a beautiful brown, but of a delicious flavor quite different from any other turkey that ever was seen. The turkey meat is positively rich, and even the white meat that is generally dry has a moist, spicy taste. This is his recipe for roast turkey:

Clean the turkey with as little handling as possible and rinse with water in which a little baking soda has been dissolved. Now break up about half a pint of bread crumbs, and into the crumbs chop two links of pork sausage. Stuff the turkey with this mixture and just before putting into the oven bind salt pork on the breast of the turkey. Remove the pork just before the turkey is taken from the oven. When the meat is carved, its flavor will be found very superior. This is particularly to be recommended for the Thanksgiving turkey, which, with so many other dainties rivaling it, must be very appetizing to be enjoyed.

I got so I could not work or even have any satisfaction of life. I got hold of one of The Herbal Remedy Co.'s circulars and after reading it, I went to a doctor for advice about going to them. He told me that traveling doctors are all humbugs; that there is no way to cure rupture but to cut open, and I would not undergo such a dangerous operation. I concluded to go and see the Herbal Remedy Co.'s specialists and he told me he could cure me with their treatment, which he has done. All the pain is gone and the bunch like a handful of worms is gone. I am glad to recommend the doctors to any one. They need not be afraid of being imposed upon.

VAN SCHAICK A HERO.

In Manila Hospital Wounded
But Recommended For Medal of Honor.

FOUGHT REBEL FORCE ALONE.

Rushed Ahead of His Men in a Charge and Had Hot Contest, Until
the Troops Came Up—Sustained
Two Severe Wounds.

Manila, Nov. 26.—Second Lieutenant Louis J. Van Schaick, of the Fourth Infantry, while scouting with a few men of that regiment, met 150 insurgents, who had attacked and sacked the hamlet of Siaraba, near Cavite. Upon seeing the Filipinos, Van Schaick ordered his men to charge them. The command was obeyed and Van Schaick, being mounted, reached the insurgents 60 yards in advance of his men. He killed three of them with his revolver. An insurgent fired his rifle point blank at Van Schaick at four paces, but missed. Lieutenant Van Schaick was then knocked from his horse. He jumped to his feet and engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict with the enemy, using the butt of his revolver. He sustained two severe wounds, one of which nearly severed his wrist. At this point the lieutenant's men arrived, rescued him and put the insurgents to flight. Van Schaick is in the military hospital at Manila and is doing well. He has already been recommended for a medal of honor for bravery in a previous engagement.

General Hughes, commander of the department of the Visayas, reports that negotiations are about completed for the surrender of the insurgent leader Samson, on Bohol Island. This surrender will doubtless end the revolt against the American authority in Bohol, as Samson is acknowledged to be the chief insurgent leader there.

MRS. BONINE WAS UNMOVED

When Witnesses Described Cries,
Etc., of Dying Man.

Washington, Nov. 26.—In the trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine for the murder of James Seymour Ayres, Jr., at the Kenmore hotel, last May, Baker, the man who saw Mrs. Bonine descend the fire escape; Hopkins, who roomed over Ayres and raised the first outcry; Miss Woolums, who roomed under Ayres, and Miss Lawless and Miss Minas, who roomed on either side of him, testified. The two latter were regarded as star witnesses, but they testified to no facts not developed at the inquest. J. F. Drew, the capital policeman who was on the stand when the court adjourned last Friday, testified that there was room enough behind the door of Ayres' room for a man to have been there while the door was opened to admit another person, a contention which the prosecution deny, and also that there were empty cartridges in the sloop jar in Ayres' room before the pistol with which the shooting was done was emptied by Officer Brady after the tragedy. This would tend to establish the theory of the defense that the pistol belonged to Ayres. Miss Minas testified that Ayres and Mrs. Bonine ate ice cream and cake in her room the night before the tragedy, and that at that time there was no evidence of ill feeling between them.

Mrs. Bonine throughout the trial yesterday, when witnesses described the cries, groans and throat gurgling of the dying man, remained absolutely unmoved.

THE TURKEY'S DOWNFALL.

HERE'S a melancholy gobble from the coop Where the turkey is now forced to humbly stoop, And the feathers oft up-lifted By the bird that seemed so gifted On the floor of his small prison sadly droop.

An appealing look is noticed in his eye As he meekly gazes at each passerby. Little time he spends in pecking, For he's often rubber necking, Vainly hoping that some rescuer is nigh.

Now and then he stands with eyelids tightly closed, But the turkey isn't sleeping, as supposed, For instead of calmly snoozing He most anxiously is musing O'er his downfall since upon the roost he dozed.

And he thinks of how he used to strut about, With his tail and other feathers all spread out, But he now is sorely humbled, For from heights of pride he tumbled, And no more he'll see the drakes and roosters' pout.

'Tis a change that he must sadly contemplate From a barnyard to a coop so low and straight; In his prison he is quaking, And with dread he's often shaking As he thinks of his approaching cruel fate.

This once haughty bird is in a woeful plight, And it's useless now to think of stealthy flight, For the weapon of destruction Has been whetted for the ruction, And the humbled turkey's finish is in sight. —Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Turkey without stuffing is an innovation slow to win the approval of conservative housewives, but it is claimed by the best authorities on cookery that turkey, like game, should never be stuffed if its finest flavor is to be preserved. Dress as usual and place a large spoonful of butter upon the breast. Put in a very hot oven for thirty minutes that the outside may sear over at once and retain the juice. Diminish the heat and baste often with the butter and fat that cooks from the fowl, allowing twenty minutes' cooking to each pound of turkey, not counting the first half hour. Should it be necessary to turn the turkey while cooking use a towel. Never stick it with a fork or allow the juice to escape. Sprinkle with salt when nearly done.

For the gravy put the gizzard, heart and liver on the fire in a quart of water and cook until tender; then remove and chop finely. When the turkey is done, remove it to the serving dish, pour all but a tablespoonful of fat from the pan, add a tablespoonful of flour and cook for three minutes; then add the water in which the giblets were cooked, of which there should be a pint. If less, add water, stir until smooth and add the chopped giblets. Serve in a gravy boat.

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

How the Good Housewife Prepared It in Olden Times.

Thanksgiving dinner in the olden times made unusual demands even upon the most efficient housewife, and the serving of a dinner to a family party of from twenty-five to fifty persons in a large kitchen of the old fashioned farmhouse was no light task for the mistress. But the result was worth all the trouble entailed in the getting up of such a dinner, and the recollection of the roast turkey, chicken pie, baked Indian and rice puddings, pumpkin and mince pies baked in the old fashioned brick oven, with the other accessories of the Thanksgiving dinner, has proved powerful enough to bring back year after year to such a homestead the sons and daughters, the grandchildren, the aunts, uncles and cousins who had gone forth from it to enter into the larger life of the great cities. The brick oven has practically disappeared, but the culinary skill of the New England housewife has not, and Thanksgiving dinner is much the same as of old. Even city folks who prefer a course dinner 304 days in the year really welcome a return on Thanksgiving to the older style of serving dinner, and it is this way which generally prevails on this day.

Thanksgiving Bounty.
Oh, favors every year made new!
Oh, gifts with rain and sunshine sent!
The bounty overruns our due;
The fullness shames our discontent. —Whittier.

Too Much Turkey.

Wear—Wot? More turkey! Why, I've eat so much dis week dat I gobbles in me sleep! Dat's right.

The Thanksgiving Dinner.

A contrast between the Thanksgiving dinner of half a century ago and that of the present time will be found more in the details of the table decoration than in the menu itself. Although some favorite dishes of the present time have been added to the list and perhaps one or more of those familiar to previous generations omitted, the dinner in the main is the same, with roast turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin and mince pie as essential dishes.

Didn't Appreciate Uncut Edges.

A letter was received by a firm of eastern publishers the other day from a prominent New England physician who had just examined a subscription set of Mark Twain's books. These books have uncut edges—the uncut edges being a feature which it is difficult to get the average man to appreciate. Thereby hangs this correspondent's tale of woe:

Gentlemen—You do not find inclosed the payment you are expecting, but you are no more disappointed than we were when we opened our package of books, for instead of finding what we bought—viz, a set of nice finished books—we find books with edges (all except the top edge) which looked as though they had been chewed off by rats instead of being cut smooth, only they were not chewed deep enough. There were left innumerable leaves still uncut which the reader must disconnect ere he could pursue his narrative.

VAN SCHAICK A HERO.

In Manila Hospital Wounded
But Recommended For Medal of Honor.

FOUGHT REBEL FORCE ALONE.

Rushed Ahead of His Men in a Charge and Had Hot Contest, Until
the Troops Came Up—Sustained
Two Severe Wounds.

Manila, Nov. 26.—Second Lieutenant Louis J. Van Schaick, of the Fourth infantry, while scouting with a few men of that regiment, met 150 insurgents, who had attacked and sacked the hamlet of Siaraba, near Cavite. Upon seeing the Filipinos, Van Schaick ordered his men to charge them. The command was obeyed and Van Schaick, being mounted, reached the insurgents 60 yards in advance of his men. He killed three of them with his revolver. An insurgent fired his rifle point blank at Van Schaick at four paces, but missed. Lieutenant Van Schaick was then knocked from his horse. He jumped to his feet and engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict with the enemy, using the butt of his revolver. He sustained two severe wounds, one of which nearly severed his wrist. At this point the lieutenant's men arrived, rescued him and put the insurgents to flight. Van Schaick is in the military hospital at Manila and is doing well. He has already been recommended for a medal of honor for bravery in a previous engagement.

General Hughes, commander of the department of the Visayas, reports that negotiations are about completed for the surrender of the insurgent leader Samson, on Bohol Island. This surrender will doubtless end the revolt against the American authority in Bohol, as Samson is acknowledged to be the chief insurgent leader there.

MRS. BONINE WAS UNMOVED

When Witnesses Described Crimes, Etc., of Dying Man.

Washington, Nov. 26.—In the trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine for the murder of James Seymour Ayres, Jr., at the Kenmore hotel, last May, Baker, the man who saw Mrs. Bonine descend the fire escape; Hopkins, who roomed under Ayres and raised the first outcry; Miss Woolums, who roomed under Ayres, and Miss Lawless and Miss Minas, who roomed on either side of him, testified. The two latter were regarded as star witnesses, but they testified to no facts not developed at the inquest. J. F. Drew, the capital policeman who was on the stand when the court adjourned last Friday, testified that there was room enough behind the door of Ayres' room for a man to have been there while the door was opened to admit another person, a contention which the prosecution deny, and also that there were empty cartridges in the sloop jar in Ayres' room before the shooting was done as testified by Officer Brady after the tragedy. This would tend to establish the theory of the defense that the pistol belonged to Ayres. Miss Minas testified that Ayres and Mrs. Bonine ate ice cream and cake in her room the night before the tragedy, and that at that time there was no evidence of ill feeling between them.

Mrs. Bonine throughout the trial yesterday, when witnesses described the cries, groans and throat gurgling of the dying man, remained absolutely unmoved.

FIND THE BRIDEGROOM.

THE TURKEY'S DOWNFALL.

HERE'S a melancholy gobble from the coop. Where the turkey is now forced to humbly stoop. And the feathers oft uplifted. By the bird that seemed so gifted. On the floor of his small prison sadly droop.

An appealing look is noticed in his eye. As he meekly gazes at each passerby. Little time he spends in pecking. For he's often rubber necking. Vainly hoping that some rescuer is nigh.

Now and then he stands with eyelids tightly closed. But the turkey isn't sleeping, as supposed. For instead of calmly snoozing. He most mournfully is musing. O'er his downfall since upon the roost he dozed.

And he thinks of how he used to strut about. With his tail and other feathers all spread out. But he now is sorely humbled. For from heights of pride he tumbled. And no more he'll see the drakes and roosters pout.

'Tis a change that he must sadly contemplate. From a barnyard to a coop so low and straight; In his prison he is quaking. And with dread he's often shaking. As he thinks of his approaching cruel fate.

This once haughty bird is in a woe-filled plight. And it's useless now to think of stealthy flight. For the weapon of destruction. Has been whetted for the ruction. And the humbled turkey's finish is in sight. —Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Raw Oysters.
Cream of Cauliflower Soup.
Creamed Lobster. Hot Crackers.
Roast Turkey, Cranberry Sauce.
Potatoes a la Duchesse. Spinach.
Broiled Quail. Celery.
Sweet Potato Croquettes.
Lettuce Salad with Mayonnaise.
Cheese. Crackers. Olives.
Pumpkin Pie. Fresh Fruit.
Coffee.

A plain but very substantial and satisfactory dinner may be arranged according to this menu:

Chicken Soup.
Roast Turkey without Stuffing, Jelly Sauce.
Boiled Sweet Potatoes. Slaw.
Chicken Salad. Celery and Grated Cheese.
Hot Crisped Crackers.
Pumpkin Pie. Fresh Fruit.
Coffee.

Turkey without stuffing is an innovation slow to win the approval of conservative housewives, but it is claimed by the best authorities on cookery that turkey, like game, should never be stuffed if its finest flavor is to be preserved. Dress as usual and place a large spoonful of butter upon the breast. Put in a very hot oven for thirty minutes that the outside may sear over at once and retain the juice. Diminish the heat and baste often with the butter and fat that cooks from the fowl, allowing twenty minutes' cooking to each pound of turkey, not counting the first half hour. Should it be necessary to turn the turkey while cooking use a towel. Never stick it with a fork or allow the juice to escape. Sprinkle with salt when nearly done.

For the gravy put the gizzard, heart and liver on the fire in a quart of water and cook until tender; then remove and chop finely. When the turkey is done, remove it to the serving dish, pour all but a tablespoonful of fat from the pan, add a tablespoonful of flour and cook for three minutes; then add the water in which the giblets were cooked, of which there should be a pint. If less, add water, stir until smooth and add the chopped giblets. Serve in a gravy boat.

What the Wishbone Said.

I cannot, cannot thankful be;
Don't ask me to, I beg.
Thanksgiving never comes but, see,
Some fellow pulls my leg!

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

How the Good Housewife Prepared It in Olden Times.

Thanksgiving dinner in the olden times made unusual demands even upon the most efficient housewife, and the serving of a dinner to a family party of from twenty-five to fifty persons in a large kitchen of the old fashioned farmhouse was no light task for the mistress. But the result was worth all the trouble entailed in the getting up of such a dinner, and the recollection of the roast turkey, chicken pie, baked Indian and rice puddings, pumpkin and mince pies baked in the old fashioned brick oven, with the other accessories of the Thanksgiving dinner, has proved powerful enough to bring back year after year to such a homestead the sons and daughters, the grandchildren, the aunts, uncles and cousins who had gone forth from it to enter into the larger life of the great cities. The brick oven has practically disappeared, but the culinary skill of the New England housewife has not, and Thanksgiving dinner is much the same as of old. Even city folks who prefer a course dinner 364 days in the year really welcome a return on Thanksgiving to the older style of serving dinner, and it is this way which generally prevails on this day.

Thanksgiving Bounty.
Oh, favors every year made new!
Oh, gifts with rain and sunshine gent!
The bounty overruns our due;
The fullness shames our discontent. —Whittier.

Too Much Turkey.

Wary—Wot? More turkey! Why, I've e't so much dis week dat I gobble in me sleep! Dat's right.

The Thanksgiving Dinner.
A contrast between the Thanksgiving dinner of half a century ago and that of the present time will be found more in the details of the table decoration than in the menu itself. Although some favorite dishes of the present time have been added to the list and perhaps one or more of those familiar to previous generations omitted, the dinner in the main is the same, with roast turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin and mince pie as essential dishes.

Didn't Appreciate Uncut Edges.
A letter was received by a firm of eastern publishers the other day from a prominent New England physician who had just examined a subscription set of Mark Twain's books. These books have uncut edges—the uncut edges being a feature which it is difficult to get the average man to appreciate. Thereby hangs this correspondent's tale of woe:

Gentlemen—You do not find inclosed the payment you are expecting, but you are no more disappointed than we were when we opened our package of books, for instead of finding what we bought—viz, a set of nice finished books—we find books with edges (all except the top edge) which looked as though they had been chewed off by rats instead of being cut smooth, only they were not chewed deep enough. There were left innumerable leaves still uncut which the reader must disconnect ere he could pursue his narrative.

The Penmanship of Authors.

Is there really any connection between the cast of a writer's mind and his handwriting? asks The Pall Mall Gazette. Thackeray was one of the neatest of writers and boasted that if other trades failed he could get his living by writing the Lord's Prayer on a shilling. Keats wrote like a clerk, and Gray, Tom Moore, Leigh Hunt and Sir Walter Scott all used running hands, which were legible without any marked characteristics. The same may be said of the writings of Anthony Trollope and Professor Tyndall, none, perhaps, of these writers being much given to subtlety of expression.

Carlyle, on the other hand, is said to have produced the most untidy and awful scribble that ever puzzled a compositor, and Victor Hugo, Browning and Tennyson were nearly as bad. Yet, although this looks as if there might be some sort of a rule in such matters, we find Napoleon, who certainly never failed in directness of expression, writing a hand that he could not read himself, and Macready, the actor, whose order for the theater was once taken for a prescription for a cough mixture.

One thing seems pretty certain—that the mere size of the letters has little to do with character.

Raleigh's Favorite Tiptoe.

Sir Walter Raleigh seems to have had a pretty taste in stimulants. To judge by his "cordial water," the recipe for which is copied from a cookbook nearly 300 years old. This is how Sir Walter concocted his favorite drink:

"Take a gallon of strawberries and put them into a pint of aqua vitae (brandy). Let them stand so four or five days. Strain them gently out and sweeten the water as you please with fine sugar or else with perfume."

Queen Elizabeth was exceedingly fond of perfumes, and, according to this old book, her favorite scent was made in this manner: "Take eight spoonfuls of compound water, the weight of twopence in fine powdered sugar and boil it on hot embers or coals softly. Add half an ounce of sweet marjoram, dry it in the sun, the weight of twopence of powdered benjamin (benzoin?). This perfume is very good and sweet for the time."

HORSE AGED 38

JOHN B. BENNETT HAS A REMARKABLE ANIMAL.

Has Owned Him 22 Years, And the Horse Is Still Able to Work.

John B. Bennett, of this city, has a horse that is 38 years old. The animal was purchased by the family when it was 16 years old, an age at which the average horse is unsalable at a high price. But old Tom has lasted 22 years since he was bought and is able still to do a good day's work.

His eyesight is as good as when he was a frisky colt and his appetite, as well as his game spirit, has not been impaired by the lapse of years. When not pulling a wagon about East Liverpool, Tom stands in a stable along an alley south of Sixth street. Mr. Bennett, in speaking of the faithful horse, said: "There is not enough money in East Liverpool to buy that horse," and he fondly stroked old Tom's glossy bay coat that gave evidence of his admiration for the animal.

Horses rarely live beyond 25 or 26 years, but with good keeping Tom may continue to be in service for a few years more. He is, so far as learned, the oldest horse in Columbiana county—certainly the most active and serviceable among his compeers in horse flesh, if any should have reached his years in eastern Ohio.
